Mid-Hudson Span Shows Decrease in Month, Others Gain

Rip Van Winkle, Bear Mountain Increase; Ferry Travel Also Is Higher

Both the Rip Van Winkle and Bear Mountain bridges showed a higher percentage gain in vehicular traffic than the Mid-Hudson Bridge during August, according to figures released today by the New York State Bridge Authority. The Rip Van Winkle span which has been showing the steepest gain in recent months, this time was slightly under the high for the Bear Mountain Bridge. The increase in travel over the bridge near Catskill is believed due to the extension of the parkway to Red Hook on the other side of the river. August ferry travel here, meanwhile, was above that of last year, and on September 2, the last day of the Dutchess County Fair at Rhinebeck, the ferry handled 1,049. This is believed a record for a single day. The total for the fair week this year was 4,304 vehicles. This was 435 above the 1949 rush to the fair. The total handled by the ferry last month was 14,374, an increase of 2,153 over August, 1949. The August totals for the bridges were: Rip Van Winkle, 181,242, and 1949, 159,331, an increase of 31,711 vehicles or 13.61 per cent. Mid-Hudson: 327,106 and 310,223, an increase of 16,883 or 5.44 per cent. and Bear Mountain: 186,342 and 182,609, an increase of 3,733 or 2.04 per cent.

Limbs Full of Bees Falls; Few Are Stung

The fall of a tree limb yesterday indicated that some busy bees like busy corners for storing honey. Officers Robert Soper and Gunsey Burger, Sr., were dispatched to Albany and Clinton avenues late yesterday morning when the limb was reported down. They reported the limb of honey bees and stood by until B.P.W. men arrived to remove the limb. Meanwhile, the report said, a few persons in the area were stung.

Statehood Asked Again

Washington, Sept. 6 (AP)—President Truman provided Congress today to vote statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, and Democratic leaders (H. J. Clegg) said the Senate may consider next week statehood bills already passed by the House.

To Oppose Thomas

Former N.A.M. President Wins Republican Nomination

Salt Lake City, Sept. 6 (AP)—A newcomer to the political arena—Businessman Wallace P. Bennett—will oppose veteran Democratic Senator Elbert D. Thomas in the Utah race for U. S. Senator in November. Bennett, former president of the National Association of Manufacturers, easily defeated Attorney Rue L. Clegg for the Republican nomination in yesterday's primary election. Thomas had no primary opposition. He is completing his third Senate term. Bennett defeated a hard campaigner in Clegg, co-author of a state law patterned after the Taft-Hartley Act. Clegg conceded when less than one-half the precincts had reported.

Hurricane Dies In Tampa Bay Area

Miami, Fla., Sept. 6 (AP)—The tricky Gulf hurricane which caused two deaths and left more than 400 homeless whirled in dying fury near the Tampa bay area today. The Miami weather bureau said it was centered a short distance north of Tampa and was losing intensity. The 7 a. m. (E.S.T.) advisory reported was doubtful if there were any more hurricane winds in the storm which earlier lashed the middle Florida Gulf coast with 125-mile per hour gusts. At the same time the weather bureau warned of squalls over northern and central Florida and said there would be dangerous gales in the west central part of the state.

Fire Chief Thinks Blaze Incendiary

Garage on Foxhall Avenue Damaged at 10:40 Tuesday Night

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today that a fire which damaged a frame garage at the rear of 57 Foxhall avenue last night was of apparent incendiary origin. Firemen were called at 10:40 p. m. and found the blaze burning under a sill. The structure is on the Frederick estate, and Raymond W. Gilkey, who lives at 57 Foxhall avenue, discovered the fire as he drove into the driveway, the chief said. The fire was quenched by a hydrant stream and damage was reported slight. Another call at 3:15 a. m., today was for water line trouble at the Musson House, 5 West Strand. A water pipe had broken on the third floor and caused some water damage to the second and third floors in the building, firemen said.

Situation 'Serious'

Washington, Sept. 6 (AP)—The Defense Department described the situation in the northeast sector of the Korean battle front today as "serious but not disastrous." Briefing officers at the Pentagon said there had been no general breakthrough by the Korean Reds. An army spokesman said the Reds had achieved important advances in the critical area between Pohang and Taegu, but that nowhere had the enemy been able to push to any place where he did not come up against stiff opposition.

Leaves $100 to U. S.

New York, Sept. 6 (AP)—The United States was pretty good to Stanley Zakrzewski, who came from Poland, became an American citizen and bartered for a living. And he appreciated it. His will, leaving cash bequests of $3,970, gave $100 to the national treasury "in appreciation of the privilege given to me to become a citizen of the U. S. and of enjoying the liberties and opportunities which this country has given to me."

With U. S. Marines in Korea, Sept. 6 (AP)—Battle-weary and begrimed marines were stunned, confused and profane when told today of President Truman's remark that they have a "Stalin-like propaganda machine."

Opposition Fades Against Lynch as Democrats Meet

State Chairman Predicts Overwhelming Victory for Bronx Man in Top Post Voting

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP)—All opposition to the nomination of Rep. Walter A. Lynch as the Democratic candidate for governor apparently collapsed shortly after the state convention opened here today.

State Chairman Paul E. Fitzpatrick predicted an overwhelming victory for the Bronx congressman in the roll call tomorrow. Daniel P. O'Connell, Albany county leader, was reported to have released delegates supporting his drive to nominate Governor Ewing, federal security administrator.

With O'Connell apparently forced into defeat by the voting strength of the Lynch backers, the convention leaders were preparing to turn their attention to selection of the rest of the state ticket.

U. S. Senator Herbert H. Lehman was scheduled to be renominated by acclamation. The candidates for lieutenant governor, comptroller and attorney general probably will come from upstairs. All five of New York city's leaders were publicly committed to Lynch. The vote of the delegates alone, totalling 441, were 22 more than the majority of the 337 delegates needed to nominate Lynch.

New York city achieved its solid front yesterday when James A. Roe, Queens county leader, swung to Lynch. The Queens delegation has 69 votes. Roe previously had backed Associate Judge Charles Frossey of the state Court of Appeals for the gubernatorial nomination.

In addition, chairmen of such key counties as Erie, Monroe, Onondaga, Westchester and Nassau were committed to the support of Lynch.

O'Connell, however, apparently was hopeful of capitalizing on a widespread feeling among delegates from every part of the state that Lynch was a relatively weak and unknown candidate. Although not working with O'Connell, Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., was reported keenly interested in the possibility of a rank and file delegate to back fire against the designation of Lynch in favor of a more widely known figure.

Roosevelt Not Asked

Roosevelt, when asked if he were interested in the gubernatorial nomination, said briefly: "I haven't been asked."

U. S. Senator Herbert H. Lehman is slated to be nominated by acclamation for a full six-year term. Selection of the rest of the ticket was to be made by the leaders after a meeting of the State Committee this afternoon.

Assemblyman James J. Lyons, Sullivan county dairy and poultry farmer, appeared to be the leading candidate for lieutenant governorship nomination.

Wicks Says U. S. Peril Caused By Political Whims of Democrats

Hanley to Accept U. S. Senator Spot On G.O.P. Ticket

Says He Is Disappointed Over Switch, Vows He Will Fight for Election

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP)—Governor Dewey's third term, "crisis" campaign ticket was virtually settled today as Republican convention chiefs polished a master plan to draft and reshuffle the Dewey "team."

Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley, disappointed and laying "aside personal considerations"—agreed to run for U. S. senator because, he said, of the national and world crisis. Comptroller Frank C. Moore was yielding to Dewey's plea to become the nominee for lieutenant governor.

Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein, G.O.P. high command sources indicated, would be renominated. Only the comptroller berth was unsettled as the convention was opened by keynote Arthur H. Wicks with a slashing attack on the Democratic national administration.

Wicks, state Senate majority leader, bluntly charged that the "dangers which our nation faces today are the result of policies pursued by the Democratic party over a long period," despite G.O.P. warnings.

Delegates Cheer Wicks. Stressing a campaign theme already laid out by Dewey, Wicks told the cheering delegates that "fiddling, fumbling Democratic heres have cancelled out the hard-earned victories of our military heroes."

The gravely, handsomely debonair Wicks—himself a Woodrow Wilson Democrat three decades ago—contended that "the diplomatic defeat of the United States in the past five years is without parallel in the history of the world."

The convention was gavelled to (Continued on Page 15, Col. 7)

Contract Signed For Local Housing, Chairman Reports

Arthur A. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority, said today that he had received copies of "the duly executed contract" between the state and the city for the local housing project.

The contract bears the signature of the state comptroller and attorney general and was to be filed in the city clerk's office. The local authority will arrange now for the hiring of a surveyor, architect, appraiser and for test borings on the site. Steps will be taken also to provide for temporary financing. Such agreements will be between the local housing authority and the New York State Division of Housing. The 100-unit project is planned for a tract in the Flatbush avenue sector.

Truman Marines Letter Stirs Up Anger, Curiosity

Washington, Sept. 6 (AP)—President Truman's boldly-phrased statement that the Marines have a "propaganda machine almost equal to Stalin's" today stirred up both wrathful reaction and curiosity about how it came to be made.

The President chose an odd time to write to a Republican Congressman chiding a service around which has grown something akin to legend. It came in an election year, on the eve of a convention of the Marine Corps League, in the midst of a war in which the Marines are fighting. Also, the letter followed closely on a series of incidents which had showed up sharp division between White House thinking and that by some high military officials.

The President's comment about Marine "propaganda" was contained in his answer to a request by Rep. McDonough (R-Calif.) for equal representation of the Marine Corps in the joint chiefs of staff. In turning down that idea, the President said "The Marine Corps is the Navy's police force and as long as I am President that is what it will remain." He added, however, "nobody desires to belittle the efforts of the Marine Corps."

Kelly Trial Set For September 11

Judge Orders Extra Panel of Trial Jurors for Examination

At the opening of the September term of County Court, Tuesday afternoon District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn announced that he would move for trial next Monday, September 11, the indictment which charges Edward H. Kelly, 50, Shokan, with the murder of Mrs. Eloise McHugh, 44, of 92 Green street, last May 22. Charles J. Saccoman, counsel for Kelly, stated he would be ready.

The defendant was brought to the court room prior to the statement by District Attorney Bruhn and was present during the formalities. County Judge John M. Cashin then made an order authorizing the drawing of an extra panel of 100 trial jurors to be present at court next Monday at 10 o'clock. The actual trial will be moved at 2 o'clock that afternoon following the hearing of excuses from jurors drawn.

Kelly, a former resident of Kingston where he was engaged in the real estate business, is charged with having stopped his car on Main street opposite the First Dutch Church and fired a shot at Mrs. McHugh as she was walking to work. He then turned (Continued on Page 15, Col. 1)

Keynoter Exhorts G.O.P. to Make Capital of Own Gains

Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks, keynoter of the 1950 Republican State Convention, today assailed the Democratic party in his keynote speech for the "political expediencies" which have placed the United States in the midst of grave peril.

Senator Wicks, Ulster county's G.O.P. leader, told the overflow audience at Convention Hall, Saratoga, "We enter this campaign a united party, with the deep conviction that the welfare and safety of the people depend upon our success."

Despite many warnings, Senator Wicks said, the danger facing the nation today "is the inevitable outgrowth of a sinister alliance made by the Democrats years ago and persisted in today."

Keynoter Wicks also told the delegates, "Not since 1936 has the Democratic party won this state without the support of its Communist and Socialist allies. Every year since then the Republican vote has been larger than the Democratic."

"In the kind of progressive, human, enlightened government that the Republican party is giving the people of New York, lies the only answer to those who would scrap the American system for one of socialism or communism, or Sovietism of any stamp or character."

Text of Address

The full text of Senator Wicks' keynote speech follows:

Mr. Chairman, Fellow Delegates, Distinguished Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Once more the Republican party of the Empire State convenes in the midst of national crisis. The call to duty is clear.

Our opportunity for patriotic service to the state and nation is unmistakable. We enter this campaign a united party, with the deep conviction that the welfare and safety of the people depend upon our success.

The grave peril in which our nation now stands is not the result of circumstances beyond anyone's control. It is no sudden disaster that has fallen upon us unexpectedly.

It is no unforeseen development. It was not unavoidable. The dangers which our nation faces today are the result of policies pursued by the Democratic party over a long period, despite many warnings. It is the inevitable outgrowth of a sinister alliance made by the Democrats years ago and persisted in today.

—persisted in despite many protests—not only from Republicans, but from patriotic Democrats as well. Five years ago, the United States stood at the height of its power, a power never before achieved by any nation in modern times.

Our enemies had surrendered unconditionally. Our navy and air force were, by far, the greatest in the world. Our army was the best equipped and the most powerful.

Behind our armed forces stood an industrial organization more productive than even we had, thought possible. We, and we alone, possessed the atom bomb.

We were then at the peak of our world power and prestige. With competent national leadership, we could have maintained our position.

The law firm of Napolitano, Kelly & Saccoman, filed the summons and notice with papers charging that an "unnecessary and unreasonable quantities of explosive" was used last Nov. 3 in blasting on the street.

The plaintiffs ask $100 for damage in the house where they say plaster fell; $225 for damage to their car, $1,250 for injuries to Mrs. Smith, who, according to the information, was sitting in the car at the time of the elections were unanimous.

Pohang Is Taken After Tough Fight

Communists Open New Push Upon Targu After Seizure of No. 2 Port

Red Tanks Used

Eighty-Four Russian Armored Trucks Face U. S. Patton

Tokyo, Thursday, Sept. 7 (AP)—Allied troops retaken Yongchon Wednesday in a counterattack that stopped Red Korean thrusts at Taegu and regained some lost ground.

But the Reds threw 84 new Russian-made tanks on the northern and eastern Korean battlefields where new U. S. 474-ton Patton tanks made their way appearance a few days ago.

A big tank battle seemed imminent with the allied side having some demonstrated advantage through airplane support.

Good weather unleashed U. S. Fifth Air Force bombers and fighters on the enemy tanks. By dusk Wednesday 17 Red tanks were knocked out, 10 destroyed and seven damaged by aerial attack.

Night fighters and bombers continued the attack Wednesday night. But the allied eastern sea anchor line on the 120-mile Korean war-front had collapsed. That allowed Communist troops and tanks to sweep toward Taegu, hub of the northern and western front, and southeast toward Pusan, chief allied port in the south-east.

Pohang, No. 2 allied port on the Sea of Japan coast, fell to the Reds. Allied fire bombs in Wednesday's air attacks set the city aflame. It has changed hands twice in the 10-weeks-old war.

Yongchon, a major battle point 20 miles east of Taegu, was seized by Communist guerrillas Tuesday. It was retaken by an allied counterattack Wednesday morning.

Highway Junction Held. American aerial observers told A.P. Correspondent Leif Erickson the highway junction was in allied hands late Wednesday.

The fate of Targu depended upon the battle for Yongchon and the highway between the two cities. Correspondent Erickson said Targu was calm while battles flared to the east and north of it.

The rail hub is the largest city left in the allied sector of Korea. The allied east wing first fell after Tuesday near Kijye, nine miles northwest of Pohang.

Reds poured through that hole toward Kijye, 18 miles southwest of Pohang. But that impetus had and road junction was saved by stiffening allied defenders who shelled the advancing Reds on Wednesday.

Two Miles Nearer. The Communists moved two miles nearer to Targu down the Kumhwa "howling alley." They (Continued on Page 15, Col. 3)

Pecora Still Holds

Democratic Leaders Said to Favor Him for Next Mayor

New York, Sept. 6 (AP) State Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora today was reported still the choice of New York City's Democratic leaders for mayor at the Nov. 7 election.

The leaders were at Rochester for the Democratic State Convention, and a party spokesman there said the mayoralty wasn't even discussed at their meeting last night. This indicated Pecora remained their man.

The Republican choice for mayor has not yet jelled as much. The City Fusion Party opened a court fight yesterday seeking to prevent election of a mayor at the Nov. 7 general election under the present regulations.

The party obtained a State Supreme Court order requiring the Board of Elections to show cause Friday why it should not stop its preparations for the majority election.

Pfeiffer Is Re-elected

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP)—Rep. William L. Pfeiffer of Buffalo will continue as chairman of the New York State Republican Committee. He was re-elected last night at a pre-convention meeting of the committee. Others re-elected were: vice-chairman, Miss Jane H. Todd of Tarrytown; secretary, Thomas E. Stephens of New York city; and treasurer, Alger B. Chapman of Loudonville. All the elections were unanimous.

Plane Crash Toll Now Stands at 14

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP)—The death toll stood at 14 today in the crash Monday of an airliner loaded with holiday travelers.

Nine passengers still were hospitalized with injuries. One of them, Seaman Thomas Ochar, Jr., 21, of Little Falls, was reported in critical condition.

Another passenger, Philip La Salle, 29, of Yonkers, died of burns last night at Faxon Hospital.

Inspectors for the Civil Aeronautics Board, attempting to determine the cause of the crash, paid particular attention to the two shattered engines of the DC-3, operated by Robinson Airlines.

Twenty-three persons were aboard the plane when it took off from the Oneida County Airport for Newark, N. J. About two miles east of the airport it struck treetops, burst into flames and ploughed across a farm pasture.

La Salle boarded the plane after visiting his fiancée, Miss Ruth Laird of Rome, his mother, Mrs. Philip La Salle, said.

Mrs. La Salle said the couple had planned to be married next year.

La Salle, a World War 2 veteran, was a mechanical engineer at the Revere copper and brass plant in Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. La Salle said her son had gone to Rome Saturday after serving as best man at the wedding of his brother, John, in Bronxville.

Development Planned

New York, Sept. 6 (AP)—A $5,000,000 block-square apartment development is planned for Greenwich Village. Snugg Harbor, trustee of the tract, revealed plans for the project yesterday.

The development area is bounded by Eighth and Ninth streets, Broadway and University Place, and is one block northeast of Washington Square. The old Hotel Lafayette, which closed recently, and two score other buildings—mostly run-down lofts and stores—will be razed to make way for three garden apartment buildings to house 750 families. Work is scheduled to start next spring.

Schools Are Delayed

Watertown, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP)—With 62 polio cases reported in Jefferson county, the State Health Department has directed schools in several communities to postpone the start of classes. The schools affected are in Carthage, Lowville, Beaver River and the towns of Orleans and Alexandria. The health department described the indefinite delay as a precautionary measure. Most schools in the state open this week.

PROBLEM OF WHO OWNS FORMOSA

All kinds of people have been telling America for months to get up on her haunches and holler back at Russia. We've been doing more of it lately, but far from enough.

Formosa is a good example. Russia and Red China scream that we're "invading" Chinese territory by having our Seventh Fleet patrol the waters between the island and the mainland.

We say we're not invading, but we allow the most important fact in the whole situation to get buried under a lot of confusing blather. The fact is this:

Under International law Formosa doesn't belong to China at all—either to the Communist government or to Chiang Kai-shek. In 1895, after the Sino-Japanese war, the island was ceded by a defeated China to Japan, which held it continuously until the end of World War II.

From the moment of Japan's surrender, Formosa became conquered enemy territory. Since it had been formally yielded by China in the 1895 treaty, it did not automatically revert to the control of China as would land gained during war by force of arms.

The final status of conquered enemy soil is settled only in peace treaties or by general international agreement. Since there is as yet no Japanese peace treaty and no step has been taken to have the United Nations handle the issue, Formosa legally still belongs to Japan. And Japan is a nation occupied by the victorious Allies.

There's one complication. In wartime conferences at Cairo and Yalta, the U. S. promised Chiang Kai-shek he could have Formosa back when Japan was licked. On the strength of that, he moved in without waiting for a peace treaty. But that doesn't alter the fact that his control has no real status under international law.

If we choose to modify or repudiate our pledge to Chiang, he may complain but he has no basis for appeal. By ordering our fleet to police the seas off Formosa, this is in effect exactly what we've done. As the chief occupying power in Japan, we could go further (though we don't intend to) and move land forces onto Formosa. We'd be infringing nobody's rights.

Those are the cold facts, the true answer to Moscow's frenzied shouts that we're violating Chinese "sovereignty" in Formosa. China has no sovereignty there. She hasn't had since 1895.

How Formosa shall be disposed of ultimately is something else. If resistance by Russia and Red China makes a fair peace treaty settlement impossible, the question should fall to the U.N. Who knows? Formosa might even be given to the Formosans.

THE U.N. DISCOVERED

The United Nations has been discovered by the American people. Grave events surrounding the August meeting of the Security Council helped to bring about this one good result. The newspapers always have given much attention to the U.N., but the greatly increased interest because of the Korean situation and the return of the Russian delegation led to detailed coverage of every session. Apparently it also led people in greater numbers than ever before to read the long columns of newspaper description and speech texts.

The popularity or effectiveness of a public figure is often measured by the mail he receives. By this standard the U.N. has scored an impressive mark. Before the Korean business Warren R. Austin, the United States delegate, used to receive two or three hundred letters a week. In August they began coming at the rate of seven thousand a week, and he has received as many as three or four thousand at a time after a major speech. The British and French delegates have received a few hundred, a gratifying number for foreign figures. Jacob A. Malik of Russia has been getting some, too.

Such an amount of mail is an unflattering indication that people are paying attention to what the Security Council is doing. This

EXCITEMENT IN RADIO

When I reported that there was a quarrel among the writers of radio scripts, I had no idea that there would be so much excitement among advertising agents who might check for facts in "Red Channels," an excellent reference book which gives a report on Communist influence in radio and television. "Red Channels," however, cannot be complete because the laws of libel protect the enemies of our country, in the sense that it is not possible to publish what one knows to be true, unless there is proof under the rules of evidence which prevail in our courts—and such evidence is often not obtainable.

For instance, I have for 11 years risked libel suits by writing about the Harold Ware Cell organized by the Communists to infiltrate the highest places in government. During all those years, I had the names. At first, I went at it gingerly because while I knew the facts, I could not prove them. Then I became more courageous and gave names. There were no libel suits. Then the Chambers-Hiss case came to my rescue, and, beginning last March, I pushed this matter in my column and on radio broadcasts. Until I sounded like a broken record. Now Lee Pressman has confirmed the whole criminal business by public confession.

This explains why the Communists have an advantage. Libel suits are costly even when won, and the enemy uses the weapon of good laws to silence those who are fighting them.

I have two letters concerning the Radio Writers Guild. One is signed by Sheldon Stark, vice-president of the eastern region, and the other by Weiborn Kelley and Day Arney, who resigned. Mr. Stark, in effect, says that Mr. Kelley did not tell the whole truth. His explanation is as follows:

"The Guild cannot involve itself in problems unrelated to professional matters. It cannot pledge the work of the organization or of the members to any unrelated cause, however widely espoused by its members."

Now, let us have a look at the unprofessional proposition that Mr. Kelley put to the Guild:

"Recognizing that writers in all media are of the utmost importance in the dissemination of vital information during a time of national crisis, now therefore be it resolved that the eastern region of the Radio Writers Guild urges the authors League of America to offer to the proper United States officials the league's fullest cooperation in any non-political or educational capacity in which the league or its guild may be of service."

In a word, he asked his guild to support his country in time of war. How can that be unprofessional? Actually, every American must so support his country, even with his life.

Now, we come to Mr. Stark's references to the Catholic Church and the American Legion. He says:

"The fact is that at a council meeting of July 11, 1950, in connection with reports by the fact-finding committee on blacklists, certain Catholic and Legion publications were cited for using sneaky material taken from or similar to that found in 'Counterattack.' The reports of the fact-finding committee were made in accordance with the Guild's campaign to combat the growing danger of blacklisting in the radio and television industries. This cannot possibly be construed as an attack on religion or on veterans' organizations. It would be reasonable if Mr. Stark produced a list of particulars concerning these sneaky attacks. It is the duty of the Catholic Church, as of all men of God, to oppose Marxism, which is a morally obnoxious doctrine. It is the duty of the American Legion to defend the United States in time of peace as its members risked their lives in time of war. Did either of them betray these high ideals when they called attention to the use of sneaky propaganda? If so, how? When and where? There are some who will say that all those references represent war hysteria and Red-baiting, and that we should be broadminded. They will say that it is wrong to refer to 'Red Channels' as authoritative. If it is incorrect, why have the facts stated therein not been challenged? How long must we wait to defend our country and our civilization? Were we not so sweet and gentle, we should not now be fighting in Korea."

That Body of Yours
By James W. Barton, M.D.

FEEDING THE BODY

A form of treatment that has come into general use in recent years is feeding the patient by other methods than by the mouth. It is called parental fluid therapy. These other methods of getting foods and other necessary substances into the body are subcutaneous injections into a muscle, or injections into a vein.

In Medical Clinics of North America, Dr. Oscar Bodansky, Associate Professor of Clinical Pharmacology, Cornell University Medical College, writes: "Such administration becomes necessary when, for one reason or another, it is impossible to furnish the full quota of these substances through the gastrointestinal tract (mouth, stomach, intestines) and when the economy or needs of the body becomes threatened."

There are general circumstances in which parental fluid therapy is needed. The first is when the usual method of feeding cannot or should not be used, and the second is where there has been a loss of substances urgently needed by the body, that is blood, plasma, water, minerals (chloride, sodium, potassium), proteins, and vitamins.

After pointing out the various symptoms or signs by which the physician can tell what substances are needed by the body, such as lack of alkalis, sodium, potassium, lack of water, loss of weight, dizziness, or fainting, and mucous membranes, loss of whole blood, Dr. Bodansky outlines the treatment for the loss of these necessary substances from the body which is really the replacement of these various substances by parental fluid therapy, that is, by injections of these substances in fluid or liquid form, under the skin, into the abdomen, into a muscle or into a vein. Giving these substances by mouth means they would have to go through the various processes of digestion, which takes a number of hours, getting them into the blood and lymph within a matter of minutes prevents collapse and death in many cases.

It is when we think of former days, starving a patient, giving him strong purgatives and enemas to "clean him out" before operation, thus losing needed substances, and compare it with nourishing food before operation and then these quick-acting food and other substances needed by the body after operation, that we get some idea of the advance made in medicine in various emergencies in addition to treatment before and after operation.

Is one of the most encouraging signs the U.N. has found in its brief history. When the people became persuaded that the international body is worth close daily attention, and an occasional word of unsolicited advice or praise, its endurance and effectiveness will be assured.

It would certainly help if baseball parks had sections marked where the foul balls are going to land.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington—In the desperate effort to rush more ground troops to Korea, the Marine Corps has assigned green, half-trained high-school boys to combat units due to go into battle the minute they land.

While this unfortunate practice has not been widespread, it has happened so often that senators have called for an explanation. Nebraska's G.O.P. Senator Wherry, among others, recently told how a 19-year-old Marine reservist was being shipped off to Korea.

"He has received no training except the two weeks, or whatever it is, in the summertime," explained Wherry. "Yet he has been assigned to a combat unit which will go immediately into battle."

"Would he get any training between here and overseas?" the Nebraska senator inquired of South Dakota's Senator Chan Gurney, who often speaks for the brass hats.

"Perhaps he would get it very quickly at the front," suggested Gurney helplessly.

"Does not the senator think that the more training a soldier receives, the greater will be his chances that he will not become a casualty?" broke in Pennsylvania's Senator Ed Martin, an ex-major general who once commanded the 28th Division.

"Certainly," agreed Gurney. "But we are up against it now when we must put boys into front-line service too soon."

"I know some chaps who have had only two weeks of training last year and two weeks of training this summer," said Senator Ed Tye of Minnesota, "and they are getting ready to go overseas in a Marine division."

Note—As a general practice, Marines are not supposed to be shipped overseas without at least four months' training. In the present confusion, it appears that green reservists have been mixed up with the battle-seasoned veterans.

Shrouded Statues

Attorney General Howard McGrath, once a senator from Rhode Island, strolled up to his old haunts in the capitol and stared inquiringly at the white shrouds draped over the statues outside the senate chamber during its repairs.

"What's happened since I left here, Harley?" the attorney general asked of West Virginia's Senator Kilgore. "Has the Ku Klux Klan taken over?"

Quiet Cabinet Member

Oscar Chapman has now been secretary of the interior for nine months, during which he has been so unostentatious that the news paper-reading public might not have known he was in office. During those nine months, however, Chapman has put across more in his quiet way than dozens of others.

Back in the days of Nebraska's George Norris, headlines flared over the public vs. private power controversy. And only last year, another bitter reclamation debate for a time prevented Reclamation Commissioner Mike Strauss from drawing his salary.

But last month, though obscured by war news, Secretary Chapman quietly reversed the big utility lobby in the Senate and won out on the crux of the power debate—whether the government shall have the right to distribute power from its own dams, or shall turn the power over to private companies to be distributed.

Two interesting things are behind this story. One is the efficiency of Oscar Chapman, who learned how to operate while training under crusading Harold Ickes. The other is the fact that the big utilities have now placed many of their friends in the Senate Appropriations Committee, such as McCarran of Nevada, Thomas of Oklahoma, Bridges of New Hampshire, and McClellan of Arkansas.

Big Utilities Love

Knowing that the Senate Committee was stacked against him, Chapman put up no battle when pro-utility senators hushed up his reclamation appropriations and threw out every cent of the money by which the government was to build power lines. In fact, Chapman was so complacent that some people thought he had tossed in the sponge.

Very quietly, however, he went over to see Congressman Clarence Cannon of Missouri, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, in whose district, long before, Chapman had helped build cooperative power lines through

Today in Washington

President's Blunder Is Considered Worst Any Chief Executive Ever Made

Washington, Sept. 6.—President Truman has committed perhaps the worst blunder of his career—one that no other President of the United States ever committed, since the foundation of the republic.

Mr. Truman has belittled the United States Marine Corps. He has done so at a time when the marines are fighting in Korea with a spirit and an efficiency in keeping with their traditions.

For the Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Services in the midst of active military operations to denounce any branch of the service as possessing a "propaganda machine" is to disregard morale and spirit altogether and accuse that service of deceit, fraud, and distortion of the truth.

For Stalin's propaganda machine, lately exemplified by Yakov Malik, is an object of scorn throughout the world, and to say that the marine corps has been lying about its magnificent record of fighting throughout American history is to insult the tens of thousands of marines who lie buried under white crosses in all parts of the world where they have fought so bravely.

The President went further—he made a contemptuous and wholly inaccurate statement about the status of the marine corps itself. He spoke of it as "the navy's police force" when the Unification Law specifically gives the marine corps the status of a separate unit of the Armed Services. To speak of the marines as just policemen who guard the decks of warships or do police duty ashore is to overlook entirely the position of the navy's police force. They happen to be attached to the navy from jurisdictional standpoint, but this does not mean they act for the navy alone.

The marine corps was not a mere police force when its members turned the tide of battle at Chateau Thierry in World War I, and there wasn't a warship of the navy within a hundred miles of the place where the critical battle was fought.

The marine corps was not a mere police force as its foot soldiers swarmed on the beaches of Iwo Jima in World War II in one of the deadliest battles of all history and raised the flag on Mount Suribachi on February 23, 1945.

The picture of a mobster, as the Japanese called them, is embedded in the minds of all Americans as one of the most dramatic scenes in the history of the United States.

The Marine Corps was not a mere police force of the navy as it men unflinchingly moved straight into the thick of the battle, they landed on the beaches in wave after wave at Tarawa, Guam, Saipan and Guadalcanal. Marines dropped by the thousands in their trucks, but their comrades never faltered.

What have the marines done to arouse the ire of President Truman? Nobody here can account for Mr. Truman's outburst of temper—his own office associates say they never saw the communication before it was mailed. It was written in response to a respectful plea from Representative McDonald of California, Republican, who urged that the marine corps commandant be added to the joint chiefs of staff. Mr. Truman didn't know apparently that this very same proposal had been approved by roll-call vote unanimously on February 28 last by the 31 members of the House Armed Services Committee. Democrats as well as Republicans. The recommendation read as follows:

"The joint chiefs of staff structure and composition does not insure at all times adequate consideration for the views of all services. The committee will sponsor legislation to require rotation of the position of chairman of the joint chiefs of staff among the services after a 2-year term, and to add the commandant of the Marine Corps to the joint chiefs of staff as a member thereof."

Mr. Truman in his letter to Rep. McDonald made a curious comment to the effect that "when the Marine Corps goes into the army, it works with and for the army and that is the way it should be." But there is no provision in law for the Marine Corps to be taken over by the army. It works with the army on joint operations just as the navy does or the air force does but Congress specified by law that the Marine Corps was not to be absorbed by any other service or lose its identity.

Mr. Truman declares defiantly that as long as he is President the Marine Corps "will remain" as the "navy's police force." This is not the kind of message to be broadcast to the marines now in the foxholes of Korea, nor is it a message to send to the mothers and fathers and relatives of the marines who have died in the service of their country.

Mr. Truman can't impair the glorious record of the marines. He has only succeeded in impairing his own prestige as Commander-in-Chief of America's armed services. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

AS PEGLER SEES IT
By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 5.—The International Longshoremen's Association of the A. F. of L. is notorious for corruption, including racketeering, particularly in the port of New York, and is an outrageous dictatorship under the popular but generally brutal administration of Joe Ryan. Joe's term, as president, is for life. The Transport Workers' Union of the C.I.O., under Mike Quill, is slightly different in certain particulars, but one of the most corrupt unions during World War 2.

The sentiments of these two unions are pro-American and therefore laudable in their refusal to unload Russian crab meat, caviar and mink. But there was a time when the National Maritime Union, also of the C.I.O., which also has now quit the Communist front and apparently turned pro-American, was threatening to refuse to deliver goods to Spain because France had kicked the Communist revolution and had thrown a lot of the surviving Bolsheviks into jail. The sentiments of the boss-rooms of the N.M.U. in that instance were not pro-American.

These unions are not arms of the government of the United States and President Truman, who knows the vices of the racket better than he admits, was quite right in condemning their boycotts of Russian stuff.

The Maritime Union is an old ally of Harry Bridges, and has yet convinced longshoremen of the C.I.O. It sent pickets to Washington to parade before the White House under placards whose motto was "The Yanks Aren't Coming" during the alliance between Hitler and Stalin. Joe Curran, its President, later wrote me a letter to the effect that the war caused to be a wanton imperial aggression of Britain and France against the offending Nazi regime and became a people's war when Hitler attacked Russia.

Although Curran never admitted that he was a Communist or an undeclared ally of the treasonous conspiracy of the Communists against our country, his concept of the original and secondary character of that war was the Communist line. It was declared so to be by Elmer Davis, the official oracle in problems of dogma.

Whatever change of heart and politics Curran may have enjoyed since the war, the fact remained that he once followed and defended the line side-by-side with the Communists, including Bridges, and hasn't yet recanted except by implication. He invites us to judge him by his violent postwar fight with the Communists in his own hierarchy in which he out-muscled the Muscovies and tossed many of the worst through the transmission.

But is not proud. That is a mere intention and not fact enough in other Curran's case or Quill's, who also ran with the Reds and made himself indistinguishable from them.

Even if both were to come clean today in the names of Bridges, Bentley and Chambers and the editors of the United States and particularly their subjects in union authority would be in wisdom found to put them on probation for a few years, at least, for aiming them on their arbitrary powers to make mischief in activities vital to the nation.

But as I have noted they have not come clean and even admitted that they were not always thus, so if we trust them we run the risk of making a switch and hell on the docks and in the customs and in the air to quit now and control the mechanics of the air lines.

As an ally of Bridges, who committed between New York and the west coast when better citizens couldn't get space on the trains, Joe Curran was an enemy of Joe Ryan. Curran and Bridges combined constantly to coast Ryan's racketeering and all their strongholds on the east coast and install Bridges' Communists and his bribe-bait system as distinguished from the shape-up. Both are ideologically entwined to inflict graft and discrimination on the waterfront.

Questions—Answers So They Say...

Q—Has the proposed International Army been established?

A—The International Army which was voted into existence by the United Nations has not yet begun to recruit members. Requirements for membership and other details are still to be worked out.

Q—What is an explanation of why 1816 had no summer?

A—The violent eruption of the volcano Tambora, near Java, is claimed to be responsible for making 1816 a year without a summer; the almost world-wide dust cut solar radiation.

Q—Is the Panama Canal large enough to accommodate all ships?

A—No. The Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary, as well as some of the newest U. S. Navy warships, are too large for the present locks.

Allies Retake . . .

took the town of Tabu and held positions 10 miles north of the allied supply center. These advances, and grinding American gains west of Yongsan, 32 miles south of Taegu, cost the Reds 2,035 dead and wounded in the 24-hour period ended at noon Wednesday. General MacArthur reported the Red losses in his war summary.

Allied forces appeared to have firm control of the highway from Kyongju northward for 12 miles to the junction of the Pohang-Ankang road. Both sides had the road junction under artillery fire. Pilots reported Pohang burning furiously but said the airfield six miles south of the port city was still in allied hands.

Killed Scots got their baptism of the Tuesday night in repelling Red patrols eight miles southwest of Taegu. American units were repulsed in an attempt to storm hills near Hyonpung, 14 miles southwest of Taegu. The Communists have held a bridgehead with 6,000 men there for two weeks.

On the southwestern front A.P. Correspondent Stan Swinton reported a big buildup of Communist troops near Unvong across the Nani river from the U. S. 23rd Infantry Division. Swinton said 800 Communists were killed behind the lines Wednesday but an estimated 1,500 still skulked around.

A.P. Correspondent Don Huth reported six North Korean planes, making one of their rare appearances of the war, strafed and bombed American positions along the Nakdong river.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 6 (AP)—Light selling pressure put the stock market on the defensive today. Losses were small, most of them 50 cents a share or less and a handful running to around $1. Although the decline was limited it was persistent. There was little sign of enough buying interest to turn the trend.

Trading was comparatively slow, as it has been for a week or more. There was a slight tendency to speed up on signs of price weakness.

Brokers were inclined to blame timid demand on the revival of efforts to get an excess profits tax through this session of Congress.

A decline in New York city department store sales below a year ago, the first reduction since the start of the market factor.

Among the losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Zenith Radio, Consolidated Natural Gas, American Smelting, Dow Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Southern Pacific, Gulf Oil, and International Paper.

Corporate bonds followed a narrow route U. S. Governments held steady in over-the-counter dealings. In the curb an extra and increased dividend helped lift International Cigar Machinery.

May Get Ministry Paris, Sept. 6 (AP)—French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman said today that West Germany soon may be allowed its own foreign affairs ministry. Schuman told a news conference there are no juridical obstacles to giving West Germany such greater control over foreign relations. "It is well understood, however, that as long as the tallied high commission exists, it will have the right to intervene," he added. Schuman indicated that a decision on this may be taken at the western Big Three foreign ministers meeting next week in New York.

"I can tell from your articles that you're a very sympathetic soul," is the comment in a flattering letter from Augusta. "Therefore I am sure you will weep with us over the sad fate of poor South. Having reached a fine slam contract, South proceeded to play the hand carelessly.

"West opened the queen of clubs, holding the trick. He continued the clubs and South ruffed with the ace of hearts. Declarer drew one round of trumps with the king, and then led his small trump to dummy's nine. His next stop was to ruff another low club with the queen of trumps. He re-entered dummy with a diamond to the jack to lead dummy's last club. This he ruffed with his last trump, the jack.

"At this point, South had only to get back to dummy safely to draw the last trump. Obviously he should have led a spade to dummy's ace. Instead he led a second diamond and West exultantly stepped up with his last trump.

"Any palooka would have made this contract. He would simply draw three rounds of trumps, cash longies who have strong backs but weak minds and often boast of their fighting qualities but have a notorious record of quavering submission to gunmen and goons.

For proof that Ryan's shape-up system is a device of the devil which picks the pockets of honest dummlies and fattens soulless corporations in cahoots with Ryan, you need go no further than Bridges, refer to Ryan's fearless denunciations of this alien conspirator against the natural law and the glorious heritage of Valley Forge.

Had the Reds succeeded in the ulterior scheme to get Ryan dumped off a dock with an anvil in his hip pocket, the situation here would now be badly complicated by Communist treachery on the piers. Bridges, of course, is a Communist, as we are momentarily let to believe by official court decisions, but Curran knew he was a Communist then and knew his own racket was crawling with the same kind of traitors.

Did that deter Curran from scheming with Bridges to the end that in all our ports both the docks and the ships would be run primarily in the interests of the "Kraim"? It did not. Only the superior skill and goonery of Ryan's loyal ham-heads and chartered pilferers in the port of New York prevented this awful consummation.

There you have an outline sketch of the moral quality and the intelligence of the rackets which are holding into the delicate adjustment of relations between the government of the United States and other nations. In this case, Russia and her half of the world.

By rights, unions should have absolutely no power outside the field of bargaining over pay, hours and certain details of boss-and-worker relations. In recent years, however, one gang of hoodlums decided that the absorbing Prince of Wales and his bride shouldn't be allowed to get off a boat at Baltimore because, apparently, they had theological doubts of the validity of their marriage; another gives the British Lion's flea-bitten tail another twist over the king's satanic meanness to the Irish, others levy compulsory assessments to underwrite the sovereign independent state of Israel and we find them operating de luxe poor houses in Italy.

These rackets, being rackets and so known to us, are even less qualified than Harry S. Truman to run international relations. The test of foreign policy is whether it keeps us out of trouble. The notorious history of all these gangs shows that all they know of diplomacy is to hurl demands, accompanied by insults, and then start throwing stink-bombs, half-bricks and pineapples.

By BILLY ROSE

HEF-PINESS IS A THING CALLED JOE

For my dough and doughnuts, the best brain in the movie business belongs to a 70-year-old kid named Joe Schenck, chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox.

When I was in Hollywood a couple of months back, we got to talking about the future of his industry.

"If the public is only going to shell out for good movies," said Joe, "we're all washed up out here."

"Would you mind stretching that line of thought a little?" I suggested.

"Well, it's like this," said the film executive. "The movie business is only healthy when its patrons keep coming back, week after week, no matter what picture is playing. In other words, it's got to be a habit with them, like smoking cigarettes. As of right now, our receipts indicate that a certain percentage seem to have gotten out of the habit, and obviously the only way we can win them back is with first-rate movies."

"That sounds like a pretty tough job," I said, "considering that Hollywood has to turn out over three hundred films a year."

"They don't all have to be 'Gone With the Wind,'" said Joe. "As I figure it, about fifty outstanding pictures a year would be enough to convince the public that motion pictures are still their best entertainment bet. But if the studios only turn out, say, twenty good ones a year, people may begin to think that all pictures are bad—and then we'd really be in trouble."

"That's why I'm always glad to see a well-made movie," the old hepster went on, "no matter which studio turns it out. Every winner helps all of us to keep in good with the public."

"What do you think of Hollywood's chances of producing fifty fine pictures in the coming year?" I asked.

"Pretty fair."

"How does your own product stack up for the coming season?" "I'd rather you answered that one yourself," said Joe.

"Well, over the past couple of weeks I've taken in four of the new 20th Century films, and I'm happy to report that, by large and in the main, I was impressed with what I saw."

"The Holy Year" is a beautifully photographed presentation of the rites and rituals taking place in Rome this year. With commendable sensitivity, it catches the mood and pageantry of the Holy Festival, and it strikes me as being the next best thing to actually making the pilgrimage. In addition, without belaboring it, it gets across the point that no irreverentism is going to legislate or machine-gun religion out of people's hearts and heads.

Wicks Says U. S. Peril Caused . . .

ership, we would have won the peace as we had won the war.

The army, the navy, the air force had only done their work in the fields of conflict.

It now became the government's responsibility to do ITS work in the fields of world diplomacy.

But what the military had done by the power of its MIGHT, the government could alone continue by the power of its RIGHT.

And Wicks was on the field marshal and the general staff for that campaign.

That leadership has not yet been found in Washington.

The leadership we knew, in the khaki and the blue, we have never seen in the hyperdashery of the Capitol.

Fiddling, fumbling Democratic Negroes have jangled out of the hard-earned glories of our military heroes.

Floundering Leadership

And instead of being where, under God, we should be, using our power and ability in the positive program of plucking in the garden of world peace, we find our leadership floundering in the defensive, negative program of trying to win back, by force, what we have lost through diplomatic slumber and blunder.

Today, our boys, outnumbered and woefully lacking in equipment, are fighting and dying to maintain a beachhead on the continent of Asia in a country which we liberated from Japan.

We face great peril at a half-dozen danger spots in various parts of the world.

The secret of the atom bomb has slipped through our fingers.

Everywhere we are on the defensive in a cold war with an enemy which seeks to destroy us.

Fervorish, we have begun to re-arm for a third world war that threatens OUR existence.

Never in history has a great nation lost so much in so short a time—without firing a shot!

Never in the history of the world has there been an empire comparable in size and resources to Russia, nor one whose expansion was accomplished with so little effort and without the sacrifice of either blood or treasure.

The diplomatic defeat of the United States in the past five years is without parallel in the history of the world!

How will future historians account for this amazing triumph of Sovietism?

Will they say the United States was powerless to prevent this defeat, more disastrous, by far, than we ever suffered in war?

Will they say the United States was exhausted by war, and had lost its will to resist?

Will they say we were a stupid nation, easily hoodwinked by the wily Russians?

NO, my friends: Historians can write the record in only ONE way.

Our disaster cannot be set at the feet of the military.

Our disaster cannot be set at the feet of our industry.

We have been led to the brink of defeat by the political world diplomacy in which the Democratic party has indulged us.

Like Esau of old, our birthright has been sold for the potlodge of political expediencies.

Years ago, an alliance was formed by the Democratic party with the leftist groups, the pinkies, the fellow travelers, and the outright Communists.

We Republicans in New York, from our state experience, know that we live today under the shadow of that dark alliance.

We know all about the dependence of the Democratic party upon the so-called left-wing splinter parties, the pro-Communists, and their allies.

We know that, even today, when our nation stands in grave peril, the Democrats dare not alienate the leftist groups, for, without their support, the Democratic candidates stand no chance of election.

Not Since 1936

Not since 1936 has the Democratic party won this state without the support of its Communist and Socialist allies. Every year since then the Republican vote has been larger than the Democratic.

Governor Lehman defeated Governor Dewey in 1938, but it took the 419,000 votes of the American Labor party to win by the narrow margin of 64,000 votes.

President Roosevelt carried this state over Wendell Willkie in 1940, but again the 417,000 votes of the American Labor party swung his election.

Again, in 1944, Governor Dewey received 500,000 more votes in the Republican column than President Roosevelt did in the Democratic, but the vote of the radical splinter parties gave the state to Roosevelt.

In 1948, when the American Labor party put up its own candidate, President Truman was unable to carry the state, and last year Senator Lehman defeated Senator Dulles for the U. S. Senate by less than 200,000 votes, only because he received 400,000 votes of the left-wing Liberal party, a socialistic segment of the Communist American Labor party.

Despite the combination of Democrats and radicals against us, the people have chosen a Republican governor and Legislature to govern our state during the past eight years.

The political leadership that, in these crucial years, has been lost to the nation and to the world, we have known and enjoyed in our great state of New York.

It Has Been Done

During these eight years, we Republicans have clearly demonstrated that government can meet the needs of the people in times of rapidly changing social and economic conditions.

I firmly believe that nowhere in the world has there been a finer demonstration of how people can be helped in their daily lives; cared for in times of unemployment and illness; provided with educational advantages, protected against the ravages of industrial strife, and served by their government, without infringing upon their liberties.

In the kind of progressive, human, enlightened government that the Republican party is giving the people of New York, lies the only answer to those who would scrap the American system for one of socialism or communism, or Socialism of any stamp or character.

The Republican record of the past eight years in this state has been made possible by strong, intelligent leadership.

Our success has been made possible by harmony and by common purposes between the executive and legislative branches of the state government.

This teamwork was the result of common ideals and common goals.

One Controlling Principle

In shaping our programs, and selecting our candidates, we have only one controlling principle at this convention: To formulate policies and to pick the men who will serve the best interests of the people of the Empire State.

We have no factions or wings to reconcile.

We do not have to depart from sound American principles to woo the votes of any group imbued with foreign ideologies.

We would not substitute the Missouri Waltz or the Russian Polka for the Stars and Stripes Forever.

We have no problem of stifling our own fundamental beliefs to catch the vote of fellow travelers.

Contrast this to the situation which faces the Democratic party now meeting in convention in Rochester.

For weeks, the public press has reported that the names of various possible candidates of the Democratic party have been submitted for the approval of the splinter groups.

Before the delegates to the Democratic convention can put their stamp of approval upon the choice of their leaders, that choice must first have been approved by the Socialists who masquerade as Liberals and the radical C.I.O.-P.A.C.

We can take an incident of the past week to illustrate the veto powers exercised by the leftist groups over the Democrats.

Declared Not Acceptable

On August 31st, the Democratic state leaders publicly announced their intention to nominate for governor a high judicial officer of this state. The very next day, the state boss of C.I.O.-P.A.C. declared that the judge was not acceptable to his group.

A few hours later the judge's name was withdrawn as a candidate.

This is a graphic example of the subject subservience of the Democratic party to the C.I.O.-P.A.C.

The Democratic party meeting in convention, in Rochester, must, if it follows tradition, endorse the administration of President Truman.

That resolution will be framed in general language.

Will the delegates who vote for that resolution realize the full implication of their vote?

Will they know, by that vote they will be approving the retention of Communists in high official position in Washington?

Will they know they will be approving the white-wash of the State and the failure to prosecute the Alger Hiss case?

Will they know they will be approving Secretary Acheson's refusal to turn his back on Alger Hiss?

Will they know they will be approving the squandering of fifty billion dollars intended for national defense, without anything to show for this staggering waste of public funds?

These, and many others, are the implications of the adoption by the Democratic State Convention of any resolution endorsing the National Administration in Washington.

You delegates are not embarrassed by any connection of the Republican Party with any leftist groups.

Achieved Under Dewey

Our great record in this state has been achieved under the dynamic leadership of Thomas E. Dewey, an unfettered, uncompromising patriotic American.

It has been my privilege to serve as a member of the Dewey team.

During a quarter of a century in the state Senate, I have observed the operations of the state government under five governors.

I am in a position to tell you that the administrative ability of Governor Thomas E. Dewey is without equal in the history of the Empire State.

And I am not the only one who thinks so. The former chairman of the State and National Democratic Committee appears to agree with me.

That Is Opinion

Speaking before the Institute of practical politics, in Town Hall, in New York, on May 2 of this year, the Hon. James A. Farley said:

"They won't beat him (meaning Governor Dewey) they won't beat him on a campaign assailing his administration."

That, mind you, is the opinion of one of the most astute Democratic leaders in the country.

It took a Republican administration to put New York State on its feet financially, while the Democratic National administration was going further and further in the pink.

It took a Republican administration to launch a comprehensive program to protect and improve the health of its citizens in the American way while the Democrats in Washington are advocating socialized medicine.

Under the Republican administration, new mental hospitals costing millions of dollars have been built; new methods of treatment have been utilized and today our mental hospitals are institutions of hope and cure.

Our Republican administration passed the disability benefits law, protecting six million workers from total loss of income due to illness not connected with their employment, while every Democratic member of the Legislature voted against the bill on orders from the C.I.O.

Drove Industry Out

For years, Democratic administrations prior to the election of Governor Dewey and a Republican administration, drove industry out of the state by high taxes. The Republican administration, through lower taxes, has brought many new industries into the state, affording additional opportunities for employment.

Every year, the Democrats appeal for support from minority groups who have been the victims of racial or religious discrimination—but it remained for the Republican party to put anti-discrimination laws on the statute books. In Washington, they bring this issue out in every election campaign and then forget about it during the other eleven months of the year.

The comparison can be taken even to the highways which bind our state together physically.

The Democrats let our roadbeds go to pieces.

Today, we are engaged in the construction of a mighty Thruway across the state. We have inaugurated a comprehensive program for the repair, improvement and expansion of our general highway system, including town roads.

Our Republican administration has launched a workable civil defense program for the protection of our citizens in the event of total war, while the Democrats in Washington are still talking about it.

When it was proved upon investigation that Communists had infiltrated our public school system, the Republican administration moved to throw them out, but 24 Democrats in the Assembly, and 13 Democrats in the Senate, voted against the Feinberg bill for fear that it would offend the bosses of the splinter parties.

Our Republican party never had to throw Communists out of the state government. It never let them in!

Our Republican administration has always recognized that agriculture is basic to the life of our state, and has encouraged and helped the farmer in his vital production job. The Democrats in Albany have never had the interest of the farmer at heart, while in Washington, the heat they can offer is the unworkable, socialistic Brannan plan.

Among Greatest Strides

Among the greatest strides made during the past eight years have been those in education. State aid for education now totals $243 million a year, virtually double what it was in 1943. Under the trustees of our state university, we are operating two medical schools and are moving ahead on a community college program.

Services for New York state's million and a half veterans of World War II far outstrip those provided anywhere else in the nation.

This is only part of the great Republican record.

Yes, Jim Farley was right when he said that the Republican record in this state is unassailable.

They can't beat us on our record and they know it.

Now it is our responsibility, in this convention, to here dedicate ourselves to the task of maintaining that record by nominating candidates who can, and will, continue it.

That we shall do!

To those who, in their hat for power, would despoil our liberty in the very name of "democracy" we shall shout:

"The Empire State stands against you!"

And in that standing we shall see the end of those who would destroy us from within.

In tragedy after tragedy, the Democratic party has finally shown its colors to the people. That will be the mark of its doom.

One cold November night in 1864, a group of worried people gathered outside the White House to seek a word from their president.

That night, Abraham Lincoln told the people that:

"Never in the future could any party, not strong for the liberties of the people, be strong enough to long maintain its existence in great national emergencies."

Despite the gloom of our national weakness, there is a shining light in America today.

That light is the record of our Republican party in New York.

And the prediction of our party's first leaders will be indicated. Lincoln had faith in the people of this nation.

We Republicans will keep that faith in the people.

And in this convention we shall nominate candidates who will be swept into office by the people's overwhelming approval of our state record and by an avalanche of protest against a dark, and a shameful, national administration.

No Repetition Expected

New York, Sept. 6 (AP)—Last year's record outbreak of polio will not be repeated this year in most of the nation, an official of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis indicated yesterday.

Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, the foundation's medical director, said 11,846 new cases have been reported in the nation so far this year. Compared with 20,531 for the same period last year. He predicted that the peak before 1950 ended, about 25,000 polio period of the year is just new patients would be reported.

Better Buy Buick!

If that car of yours has put its best days behind it, there's no time like right now to think about starting out afresh with a taut, new, up-to-the-minute motorcar with all its mileage still in it.

And there's no better place in the world to start than with the beauty pictured here, for a variety of reasons.

For one thing, this Buick SPECIAL is a quick-stepping Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight that's priced lower than some sixes.

For another, it's built with typical Buick ruggedness through and through—a husky that can take a lot of years without crying "Uncle!"

Then, too—this high-styled beauty is proving to be one of the most economical Buicks ever built—easy on gas, easy on upkeep, easy on you in its soft, floating, light-handling comfort.

It even comes with Dynaflo Drive* if you like—and Dynaflo means that you will never have to service or replace a friction clutch, and that rear-end or transmission servicing—even engine upkeep—are cut to a minimum.

Of course, you can't see all of this in the brief span of a trial drive.

But you can experience the good solid feel of Buick strength beneath you. You can satisfy yourself on the lightness of the controls, the utter smoothness of Dynaflo, the quick surge of Buick's Fireball power.

All such things will tell you that this is a car you'll be glad to live with for a long time to come—and you need only to ask your Buick dealer for a demonstration to see precisely what we mean.

In Benefit Play

Political Plot Is Background of Linenthal Vehicle
Woodstock, Sept. 6.—Michael Linenthal wields a sharp scalpel to the face of "respectability" in his new play which has its world premiere at the Playhouse last night. His knife probes to the rotten bone of ruthless ambition as exemplified by Avis Winslow, wife of Carlton Winslow, grandson of a governor. Winslow is dragged mercilessly into the political mire in the process of his proposed election to the same office.

With the handsome background of a Beacon Street drawing room in Boston, the play is concerned chiefly with the disastrous effects of the campaign on his family. To win the campaign Winslow is forced to accept the aid of John Magrath, son of the family's former domestic who returns to Boston from Detroit, his zeal for power. Avis and John almost destroy the life of a gifted and sensitive boy, Winslow's "adopted" son.

The play has a definite drive and suspense, and the characterization is sustained to a final climax. A trifle long, extraneous material might be deleted to achieve greater impact. Nevertheless it holds interest throughout and explores a ranking subject and locale with a relentless spotlight.

As Avis Winslow, Polly Rowles is sure and uncompromising as the vicious southern wife who was chosen by Winslow's mother as suitable in that she was the kind of a woman who "would know what to do."

Billy James presents a remarkable portrayal of "Ollie," the impressionable boy, immersed in his music, culturally old beyond his years yet pitifully young and vulnerable to the selfishness of his elders.

No better choice could possibly have been made than David Lewis as Carlton Winslow, the aristocratic, unwilling pawn of John Magrath and the "South Boston" vote.

Exquisitely lovely to look upon, Sally Gracie was fine as Eudoxia Henderson, the guest from Biloxi, possessed of the perception and backbone lacking in her sister, Avis.

Cavada Humphrey handles the difficult role of Lucy Winslow with consummate skill. "Miss Lucy" no doubt has many a counterpart, steeped in tradition, puerilely romantic and depending upon a phony philosophy of "cosmic harmony" she seems unable to recognize, no less face reality.

Ruthless, cynical, a brash product of the Boston slums, John Magrath is played with bold outlines by Walter Klavun. Fay Roope strikes a human note as "Uncle Gus," who has the enviable job of administering the "Abbott trust" but rebels against the ultimate cruelty.

Dion Allen gives a courageous account of Monsignor Melone of a "South Boston" parish who in former years had used the rear entrance, but because of the campaign is allowed the dignity of the front door.

As an integral part of the play, the excellent musical effects by Verna Tandler are much more than background, particularly in the enchanting scene in which "Ollie" endeavors to present a concert.

Richard Harrison Senie's handsome setting with an authentic Ulster county staircase as the focal point adds immeasurably to the atmosphere of the play.

When Miss Margaret Webster came to Woodstock in the spring to announce the program planned for the Woodstock Playhouse she said at that time that the plays to follow those of her company would be of importance. It would seem from the reception given Linenthal last night that the audience did most heartily approve and that he had fulfilled Miss Webster's promise of a presentation of high calibre. "Facade," a product of five years' work, is neither frivolous nor aimed at "summer stock" audiences.

Hanley to Accept

order at 9:52 a. m. (EST) by State Chairman William L. Pfeiffer. He ripped into what he called "gross incompetence" and "sheer stupidity" of the Truman administration.

Meanwhile, Dewey and Hanley, who officially accepted Dewey's invitation to run for the Senate at Albany, came to the convention city together. This will deliver acceptance addresses to the convention tomorrow night.

Admits Disappointment
Hanley said he was "disappointed" at the turn of events that removed him last Saturday as the prospective G.O.P. gubernatorial candidate. But he promised to wage a "fighting campaign."

Hanley, who had been the prospective G.O.P. gubernatorial nominee until he bowed out over a week-end in favor of Governor Dewey, told a news conference:

"I am disappointed that conditions arose that produced this but I haven't any resentment against any individual or individuals."

Hanley's announcement of his willingness to run on a ticket headed by Dewey coincided with the opening of the Republican state convention here.

Mary A. formal statement distributed simultaneously here and in Albany, Hanley said:

"No one can doubt that at the present time our people are facing an international situation as serious as any we have ever known."

In every such crisis that this nation has experienced during my lifetime I have endeavored to play my full part. Therefore, I am willing to lay aside all personal considerations as I have always tried to do and if the delegates nominate me for the office of United States senator, I will accept."

Female Pirate
One of the most daring pirates of the Spanish Main was a woman, Mary Redbeard. Many of her men fell before her sword and pistol. She was condemned to hang, but died in prison.
